

Editorial

Ten Years On . . .

This year marks the tenth year of publication for Transactions in GIS and like every other international peer-reviewed academic journal, its success is due in part to the contributions of the editorial board members and referees who help the editors to identify and guide the best manuscripts to publication as quickly as possible. We write each year to recognize and express our gratitude to those individuals who have refereed manuscripts for the journal during the past year and we periodically revise the membership of the editorial board to share this burden and bring fresh and new perspectives to the review process.

This is one of those times. It is therefore with some sadness and a deep sense of gratitude that we write to thank Roger Bivand (Norwegian School of Economics), Christine Dunn (University of Durham), Hans Hauska (Royal Technical University of Stockholm), Michael Kozlov (King Mongkut's Institute of Technology), Michio Nogami (Tokyo Metropolitan University), Gary Petersen (Pennsylvania State University), Michael Poulsen (Macquarie University), David Unwin (University of London), and Michael Wegener (University of Dortmund) for their important and varied contributions as members of the editorial board in the past several years.

It is also with great pleasure that we write to welcome thirteen new members – Ling Bian (State University of New York at Buffalo), Mark Birkin (University of Leeds), Sara Fabrikant (University of Zurich), Michael Gould (Universidad Juame I), Gerald Heuvelink (Wageningen University and Research Centre), Elsa João (University of Strathdyde), Sara McLafferty (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign), David O'Sullivan (University of Auckland), Martin Raubal (University of Münster), Yukio Sadahiro (University of Tokyo), Nadine Schuurman (Simon Fraser University), Renee Sieber (McGill University), and Stephen Wise (University of Sheffield) – to the editorial board of Transactions in GIS. These individuals bring a substantial and varied set of skills and experiences with them and we are confident that the journal will continue to grow in size and stature with their help over the next several years.

John Wilson
Stewart Fotheringham
Gary Hunter
Jochen Albrecht